TRIED TO BURY HER SHAME

Shocking Story of a Destitute Mother and Dead Babe in Buffalo.

BUFFALO, March 27.—The police are investigating one of the most shocking cases known here for a long time. It appears that a young woman named Earah Hogan, aged 10, who had no regular home, but worked principally at washing, became the mother of a child in a barn on Forest avenue about 11 o'clock Monday night, and remained there undiscovered and without attention all day Tuesday.

In the mean time the child died.

The woman remained in the barn until about 7 o'cloca Tuesday evening, when she crawled out into an adjacent yard with her dead infant, and, diagring a small hole with her hand, tried to bury it.

The was observed however, by a neighbor, when notified the police.

When the officers arrived they found the woman again is the barn, in a famished condition, and discovered also the half-buried body of the child.

The woman was sent to a hospital pending the investigation. home, but worked principally at washing. Hospital and Dispensary, on the charge of franchientir obtaining about $10,000 from franchientis obtaining about $10,000 from the Excise funds for the support of that institution, was begun in the Court of Oyer and Terminer. The rival candidates are twin brothers, thirty-five years old, handsome, "smart" and exceedingly popular. But they look so much slike that their closest friends are unable to tell which from t'other, and that's what makes their woes at this time so heartending.

It was 5, 30 o'clock last evening when Justice Cullen finished his charge.

The substance of it was that the question to be considered was not whether Fastman's soil was exorbitant, but whether he presented it knowing that it was fraudulent the Commissioners of Charities.

District-Attorney Ridgeway's summing in was a ma-terly review of the facts in the case, and in it he characterized fastman's act as a deliberate plunder from the public part of the facts in the case.

It looked like a good joke to begin with but when Jim Seaman stepped into a village out when Jim seaman stepped into a village tavern and "set 'em up" for a score of lasty voters Monday night, only to be re-solved with "three rousing cheers for Thomas B. Seaman, the next Justice of the "cace of Hemistead," it wasn't so funny, for Jim realized that he had wasted one round of ammunition and Brother Tom had got the heave!!

then when Tom opened a box of cigars in another rendezvons and the little gathering of citizons there hazzahed for "Chief Justice James M. Sesman, of Hempstead," he, too, saw the disadvantages of being a twin in popularity as well as birth.

But when Tom removed his hat, revealing a large stot on the crown of his head larger in diameter by an inch than that on Brother lim's head, the "boys" hastly amended their plannits, substituting "Thomas B." or "James M."

dates of the aces, kings, queens and jacks in fortune teling.

Thus far the canvass seems to be panning out quite evenly for the candidates and both of the brothers are on the ranged edge of anxiety n consequence.

The conditions are clearly different from those of the canvass of the fiddling Brothers Taxior for Governor of Tennesque, for of course the Taxiors were not known personally all over the big State.

Even the Brothers flawkins in their famous Senatorial canvass in the First District last Fall, had some data of precedent to figure from, for they were not universally known among their constituents, as Jim and Tom Seaman are.

The result of the great Hempstead contest, which will end next Tuesday, will be watched for with breathless interest.
